18th Annual Antimatter [media art]

OCT 16-31 2015

Victoria BC Canada

International Media Art & Experimental Cinema

SCREENINGS INSTALLATIONS PERFORMANCES
exhibitions - artist talks - screenings

New address: 510 Fort Street
Hours: Tues-Sat noon - 6 pm
250-381-4428
fluxmediagallery@gmail.com
www.medianetvictoria.org
Presented by MEDIANET

Get focused at Goo Goo!
Antimatter [media art]

Dates
October 16 to 31, 2015

Admission
Screenings/Performances at Deluge: Pay-What-You-Can ($5–$8 suggested)
Doors open 30 minutes prior to screenings

Media Installations at Deluge, Legacy, Flux, Bernstein & Gold: FREE

Locations
Deluge Contemporary Art & Antimatter HQ, 636 Yates St
Screenings / Performances: Oct 16 to 31, pp. 4–27
No Time for Tomorrow / Down to Earth / Tribute to Busby (media installations), pp. 28–29

Flux Media Art Gallery, 510 Fort St
Hither Green (media installation), p. 30

Legacy Art Gallery, 630 Yates St
Invaded Reason (media installation), p. 31

Bernstein & Gold, 608 Yates St
Fabric (media installation), p. 31

Antimatter [media art]
636 Yates Street, Victoria, BC Canada V8W 1L3
antimatter@shaw.ca  250 385 3327
Information & Updates: antimatter.ca

Governor General’s Awards in Visual and Media Arts
Check out our videos at Antimatter.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Speakers/Worksheets</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>WEDNESDAY</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct 21 at Deluge</td>
<td>7pm</td>
<td>Twelve Tales Told</td>
<td>Clinker, Twelve Tales Told, Parallel IV, Explorations of an Unexpected Time Traveler, The Glass Record, INTERFACE, Clouds Fall</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>Dark Matter</td>
<td>Echoes, Bleach, Bunte Kuh, Her Silent Seaming, I am a short way from home., Found and Lost, Traces, Dark Matter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct 28 at Deluge</td>
<td>7pm</td>
<td>Ghosts of the Joe Henry</td>
<td>bernard gaspé, Jääji Approx., carte noire, Night Noon, 1000 Plateaus, [car] Hypnophobia, Alberta, Ghosts of the Joe Henry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>Robot Pavlov Sputnik</td>
<td>Robot Pavlov Sputnik, Screen Memory, cyberGenesis, A place I’ve never been, HiFi Normal, General Public Identity, Utopia 1.0: Post-Neo-Futurist-Capitalism in 3D!</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THURSDAY</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct 22 at Deluge</td>
<td>7pm</td>
<td>Performance for Perfection</td>
<td>Non-Stop Beautiful Ladies, Body Hair Archive, Something about which nothing can be said, Resolve To Be Ready, Bialy, Special Features, Down to Earth, Stick It, Performance for Perfection 1200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>Small Wonders</td>
<td>(i): crosshairs, Dust Poetry, Australian Paper, Catalogue Vol.2 [Film], A Journey to the Shirakawa Sosui, Notes from the Interior, Brush, Negative Nature, Small Wonders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct 29 at Deluge</td>
<td>7pm</td>
<td>Hacked Circuit</td>
<td>RELAY, Pure Virtual Function, Bridge, Über Sehen [On Seeing], Sandy, Film Sound, SoundPrint, Hacked Circuit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>usaginingen: Pendulum</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRIDAY</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct 16 at Deluge</td>
<td>7pm</td>
<td>Reciprocity Failure</td>
<td>First Sun, Reciprocity Failure, Cup of Stars, Speculum, floating mind, Lunar Almanac, Solar Sight III, Thunderbolt, Second Sun</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>Paul Sharits</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>Technicolor Angst</td>
<td>Night Swells, Powder Placenta, Bird Songs of Doom, The Betrayal, Technicolor Angst, Medicated/Condition, Farewell to Hell, The Rapture, The History of Women</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct 30 at Deluge</td>
<td>7pm</td>
<td>Holland, MAN.</td>
<td>effulgence, Notes from the Farm, Interstices II, You Fig, Prima Materia, The Dollhouse, Disturbance, Holland, MAN.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>9pm</td>
<td>Kristin Reeves: Je Ne Sais Plus</td>
<td>&amp; Human, White Coat Phenomenon, Body Contours, Threadbare, Je Ne Sais Plus [What Is This Feeling]</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SATURDAY
Oct 17 at Deluge

7pm
You and I Remain
7pm You and I Remain
First Rodeo, Viveros palimpsest 1 of 3, In the Canyon, Red Mill, You and I Remain, Untitled [Horsel], twilight, Sweet Oranges

---

9pm
Forward Looking Statements
9pm Forward Looking Statements
Machines, Project Gasbuggy, Forward Looking Statements, Port Noir, La nostalgia del venado..., Iron Condor, Soyouz-Choisy, Steel Mill Rolling

SUNDAY
Oct 18 at Deluge

7pm
Displacements
7pm Displacements
Displacements, Mountains and Dresses into Windows, KCBT, Eclectic Brackets, Sleeping District, 2 Pour 5$, Ridotto Mattioni, Notes on Mackey, Ginza Strip

---

9pm
Over Water
9pm Over Water
Tears of Eros, MIST, Requiem to a Shipwreck, The Stream 5, Niagara, Summer Song, Over Water

---

SATURDAY
Oct 24 at Deluge

7pm
Enduring Ornament
7pm Enduring Ornament
Behind the Torchlight, Tribute to Busby, Pas Deux, Enduring Ornament, Where We Stand, Traces/Legacy, 7285, Still Feeling Blue About Colour Separation, I’m in Pittsburgh and It’s Raining

---

9pm
Detour de Force
9pm Detour de Force
Fugue, [sic] series, Fabric, Bikini, By the Time We Got to Expo, Effigy in Emulsion, Detour de Force

SUNDAY
Oct 25 at Deluge

7pm
This Unwieldy Object
7pm This Unwieldy Object
The Golden Hour, Self Portrait Portrait, This Unwieldy Object

---

9pm
Starfish Aorta Colossus
9pm Starfish Aorta Colossus
Two Weeks – Two Minutes, Lyrics on the Paper, At Thirty, the Party Was Over, Rumours, Soliloquy, Salix Tree, POEM, Starfish Aorta Colossus, Take it apart and put together again

SATURDAY
Oct 31 at Deluge

7pm
Scott Fitzpatrick: Post-Film
7pm Scott Fitzpatrick: Post-Film
Bruce’s Borders, Second Star, FAG, Blue Movie, Screen Test 1 (self-portrait), Dingbat’s Revenge, BCKGRNDS, PTTRNS, TXTRS + TNTS

---

9pm
Before She Leaves Her Body
9pm Before She Leaves Her Body

---

OCTOBER 17 TO 31

at Deluge

- No Time for Tomorrow
  p. 28

- Down to Earth
  p. 29

- Tribute to Busby
  p. 29

OCTOBER 17 TO 31

at Flux Media Art Gallery

- Hither Green
  p. 30

---

OCTOBER 16 TO 31

at Legacy Art Gallery

- Invaded Reason
  p. 31

---

OCTOBER 16 TO 31

at Bernstein & Gold

- Fabric
  p. 31
Reciprocility Failure

First Sun
Leslie Supnet | lesliesupnet.com | 2:28 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere
Light radiates, dances, takes shape and form. The cosmic birth of our first sun...

Reciprocility Failure
Mirka Morales | mirkamorales.com | 8:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
The title Reciprocility Failure came from researching how 16mm film reacts when shooting the night sky. Reciprocility law is the inverse relationship between intensity and time. Reciprocility failure is an exception, likely to occur at the extreme spectrum of light and dark. The inverse relationship fails and substantial exposure compensation is required. I found the term amusing, as it imbues film with human neuroses. As in film, our interactions, with each other or with nature, are often not one to one. Reciprocility Failure is an experiment about natural cycles and process. I ultimately wanted to embrace failure—a word we are superstitious about.

Cup of Stars
Ryan Betschart & Tyler Betschart | betschartbros.com
3:34 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
A vivid tableau of tenderness, Cup of Stars finds two brothers under a cool night sky, fishing for stars and supernovas. Using dream logic under their own bizarre terms, The Betschart Bros. subtly express, through a smearing of light and the telling of folk tales, ideas of growing up as siblings in Southern California.

Speculum
Richard Ashrowan | ashrowan.com
17:17 | Scotland | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Speculum is a moving image sigil, an attempt at a rehabilitation of the present through the prism of the past. The work explores ancient theories of matter in which luminous emanation gives rise to physical form. Taking the form of seven stages or seven failed experiments, the film draws upon the works of early light philosophers Roger Bacon (1214–1292), Agrippa von Nettesheim (1486–1535) and John Dee (1527–1609).

Lunar Almanac
Malena Szlam | 4:00 | Canada | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere
Lunar Almanac initiates a journey through magnetic spheres with its staccato layering of single-frame, long exposures of a multiplied moon. Shot in 16mm Ektachrome and hand processed, the film’s artisanal touches are imbued with nocturnal mystery.

Solar Sight III
Lawrence Jordan | 16:00 | USA | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere
In Solar Sight III, I have continued the dream-like form of disparate animated scenes, each with its own slightly surreal flavour. Scenes are sometimes run-on, sometimes separated by brief periods of darkness to relax, as in breathing, the viewing eye. There are no fancy superimpositions now, nor excessive visual trickery—only a comparatively straightforward presentation of the improbable images, which have formed themselves in my improbable mind.

Thunderbolt
Heidi Phillips | heidiphillips.ca
3:55 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Light explodes out of the darkness engulfing a young woman as she tries to find her way through the storm.

Second Sun
Leslie Supnet | lesliesupnet.com
3:04 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere
An animated post-apocalyptic vision of the birth of our second sun.
Paul Sharits

François Miron | paulsharitsdoc.com
85:00 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere

A long overdue documentary on the work, the influence, the life and the mysterious death of legendary experimental filmmaker Paul Sharits. The film uses never before seen archives of all types and out takes, rare interviews with people in the avant-garde scene and experimental cinema historians.

Long after his premature death, the impact of Sharits lingers on. The prominent iconoclast and innovator provoked with fast-flickering, pulsating, colourful mosaics. The many interviews and testimonies are also a portrait of a generation of leading voices in experimental filmmaking.

In the mid sixties Paul Sharits (1943–1993) started to explore the potential of the flicker. In the decades that followed, he was strikingly persistent in pursuing the total deconstruction of the parameters of 16mm film into such novel forms as multiple projection installations, frozen film frames caught between plexiglass sheets and ink coloured partitions for abstract films. The ultimate impact of the work was not theoretical, but on the contrary very physical, even visceral.

Miron’s documentary not only offers a great recapitulation of one of the most idiosyncratic and pertinent oeuvres within avant-garde film history. He also sketches the portrait of a tormented, deeply romantic artist, always courting disaster but also cursed by an inherited mental condition. The reconstruction of a tragic career is animated with ample illustrations combined with home movies and other rarely seen archival materials.

Sharits was more mad scientist than tortured genius. The distinction may sound slight but it’s ultimately what allows this film to explore his work in depth in only 85 minutes. Images of Sharits and frames from his films are shown singularly on screen before the camera zooms out to reveal an expanded image of his life and work: a celluloid wall. It is clear that this filmmaker has an eye and understanding of the artist he hopes to represent. – Tara Judah, Desistfilm
You and I Remain

Saturday | Oct 17 | 7pm
Screening @ Deluge

You and I Remain
Kate McCabe | 15:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
In this portrait of a world askew, filmmaker McCabe composes an apocalyptic lullaby, a landscape film meditating on the end of the world and subtly the end of film as a medium. Incorporating timelapse cinematography shot at the Salton Sea, Big Sur and Joshua Tree, the film provides a canvas of empty and beautiful spaces with narration about the benefits of radiation with a plea to the viewer to preserve the message for the future.

Viveros palimpsest 1 of 3
Manuela De Laborde | manueladelaborde.com
6:35 | Mexico | 2014 | World Premiere
The slippage of photographs, dissected sound, and the removal of colour abstracts location. Photographs were taken at Xochimilco (what remains of ancient Mexico’s lake-based society) and Parque Mexico at night and the soundscape comes from Santa Clarita, California. Washed away from the real sources, this (re)presentation of Mexico might find its (re)hydration in the cumulative experience provided to the senses.

““A palimpsest of which the imprints of human action are continually being erased and re-written and quite often smudged” (On Chinampa Agriculture in the Basin of Mexico, Pedro Armillas, 1971)

In the Canyon
Sami Chan & Alexandra Swati Guild
6:44 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
A solitary horse lives out her life in a remote canyon.

Red Mill
Esther Urts | 5:15 | Netherlands | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere
Red Mill is filmic research into motion picture printing techniques using as a starting point and taking as inspiration the mill paintings of Piet Mondriaan, specifically Rode Molen. In the film, colour is created by multiple exposures through different masks during printing. Depending what developing process is used the colors mix in one of two ways: additive or subtractive.

Sweet Oranges
Nora Sweeney | norasweeney.com | 18:23 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Heading west from my house, I explore the back roads off of California State Route 126, finding small, historic towns, farms and railway tracks nestled between mountains and orchards—a landscape that evokes a dream of California’s past. It resembles what migrant workers might have envisioned when traveling west in search of work in the 1930s, a vibrant, fertile promised land. This migration continues. In an orange grove, I meet Jaime, Blanca and Hugo, a group of orange pickers from Michoacan, Mexico, who share with me their songs, dreams, aspirations and thoughts about work.
Forward Looking Statements

Machines
Jeremias Altmann | 4:00 | Austria | Cdn Premiere
In the warm light of a glowing filament the moving machine parts resemble spools, wires and gear wheels. A turntable with a numerical scale spins slowly and shows various readings, though their significance is never revealed. Details, parts of which are out of focus, appear on a black background, and in them Altmann shows fragments of four machines he constructed from discarded household appliances. Altmann doesn’t draw out the machines’ secrets. He’s not interested in the electromechanical devices’ practical uses, but their aesthetic and acoustic qualities. – Norbert Pfaffenbichler

Project Gasbuggy
Carl Elsaesser | carlelsaesser.com
9:00 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
First in a series investigating form and aesthetics of representation to reconcile trauma, Project Gasbuggy focuses on the first of three nuclear bombs dropped a mile into the earth as part of a government collaboration with natural gas companies exploring the use of nuclear energy to free up natural resources. As a result of the radiation from each explosion, the land was labeled a dead zone where no harvesting or development of any kind is allowed.

Forward Looking Statements
Thomas Kneubühler | thomaskneubuhler.com
3:55 | Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
A conference call by investors in a future iron mine provides the soundtrack to a ride over land the company wants to exploit. The land in question is a traditional hunting ground to the Inuit community of Aupaluk in Canada’s far North. The village was relocated once in the 1980s and is again under threat. The phrase “forward looking statements” is used by investors to describe future events which are subject to risks and uncertainties.

La nostalgia del venado
C.C.P. Don Jesús María Romo #2
Pavka Segura | pavkasegura.tumblr.com
2:40 | Mexico | 2013 | Cdn Premiere
Segura captures the epic deployment of a basketball hoop in the gymnasium inside a now abandoned furniture factory in Aguascalientes, renowned for its fantastic employee recreation areas and amusement parks in the 1970s

Iron Condor
Meredith Lackey | meredithlackey.com
12:00 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
Iron Condor presents the sensible evidence of the Chicago Futures and Options Exchange from grain to data. The film takes its name from an option trading strategy whose profit/loss graph resembles a large bird. Static objects contend with a virtual atmosphere that renders the physical obsolescent.

Soyouz-Choisy
Étienne de Massy | 6:30 | Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Soyouz drifting, a train ticket for Choisy and tutti quanti.

Steel Mill Rolling
Ross Nugent | 12:00 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Equal parts landscape, industrial and portrait film, Steel Mill Rolling is a document of a functioning steel mill in Western Pennsylvania where the filmmaker’s family has worked for nearly 100 years. The steel slabs transformed at this mill in Farrell, PA come primarily from Russia, where the government subsidizes their production. Isaac Sherman provides the musical score.
Displacements
Manuel Alvarez Diestro | manuelalvarezdiestro.com
9:26 | Hong Kong/UK | 2013 | Cdn Premiere
Hong Kong is one of the densest cities in the world. As there is no new space available, new developments are directly adjacent to cemeteries: the world of the living coexists with that of the dead. Meanwhile, Hong Kong’s inhabitants move from place to place, waiting for a final displacement.

Mountains and Dresses into Windows
Stephanie Gray | 5:26 | USA | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Walk deep enough into the window and the street and dress merge as one. Swiss Alps appear lonely on the streets of New York. Everything is not what it seems yet again. Remember as a child you thought you could go into mirrors?

KCBT
Lauren Cook | laurencook.org
6:30 | Vietnam/USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
KCBT – khoan cat bê tông (concrete cutting and drilling) KCBT explores the shifting urban landscape and rapid economic growth of Hanoi through stencilled demolition ads that both visibly mark the entire city and internally mark its residents.

Eclectic Brackets
Bryce Richardson | 4:38 | USA/South Korea | 2015 | World Premiere
Named for the style of roof supports that typify the area, this film explores interior and exterior spaces in and around Bukchon Hanok Village in Seoul. The camera captures the slippage between its current denizens—tourists and laborers—under darkening skies.

Sleeping District
Tinne Zenner | tinnezenner.com
11:30 | Denmark/Russia | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Exterior and interior views of residential areas built during the Soviet era are juxtaposed with disjointed conversations translated from Russian into broken English. The film explores notions of home shaped by memory, history, relations and objects.

2 Pour 5$
Aaron Zeghers & Benny Bones | aaronzeghers.com
2:00 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
A dépanneur (from the French verb dépanner “to help out of difficulty” or “to troubleshoot”) or dep is a convenience store in Quebec and other French-speaking parts of Canada.

Ridotto Mattioni
Giulia Vallicelli & Luca Ferri | 10:00 | Italy | 2014 | NA Premiere
Ridotto Mattioni is a circular urban symphony based on the work of Italian architect Luigi Mattioni, a leading figure in the transformation of Milan after World War II. Architectural elements exist alongside recursive musical elements, retracing the signs of change in the city. The original score by composer Dario Agazzi quotes the first movement of Joseph Haydn’s Keyboard Sonata in E-flat major, Hob.XVI:49.

Notes on Mackey
Klaus Pamminger | 3:44 | Austria | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Iterationally flashing, negative space codes create an aftervision of an interior room corresponding to a synopsis of several rooms in Rudolph Schindler’s 1939 Mackey Penthouse. In line with the flickering transcript of said space, traces of sound from Gone with the Wind (1939) and Mother Love (1939) can be heard.

Ginza Strip
Richard Tuohy & Dianna Barrie | nanolab.com.au
9:00 | Australia | 2014 | BC Premiere
Overlapping vertical signs glowing on the overcrowded streets advertise luxury brands. Flagship stores of countless retail chains, densely covered in advertising on the narrow streets almost to the point of becoming indistinguishable.

This documentary look at Tokyo’s Ginza neighborhood, one of the world’s most luxurious shipping districts, has been made using the chromaflex process that the directors helped to develop. In this colour hand processing technique, selected portions of the image can be developed as positive colours, others left as negative and others can be black-and-white.
Sunday | Oct 18 | 9pm

Over Water

Tears of Eros
Guillaume Vallée | 5:12 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Inspired by Georges Bataille’s essay “Tears of Eros,” this hybrid film/video is about erotism and death. Through different analogue manipulations of the image, we simultaneously witness the psychological and physical decay of character and filmic matter.

MIST
Allan Brown | 4:37 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
For the better part of the 20th century the rivière St. Maurice in Quebec was considered one of the most polluted rivers in Canada; the most toxic concentration of which went through the 42m falls in the city of Shawinigan. Here, we see the falls and the mist with a vocal mix oscillating between a Greek chorus and a school for “chemistry as a second language,” listing a small portion of the toxic or benign chemicals, end products, by products and other compounds that may or may not have made their way into the river, but nonetheless contributed to the river’s noxious reputation.

Requiem to a Shipwreck
Janis Rafa | 11:00 | Netherlands | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
A requiem is performed in honour of an undefined misadventure occurring off the coast of Greece. The shipwreck is less a relic of a fatal incident than a forgotten ruin become part of the landscape, indicative of some unfathomable greater tragedy. Whether the nature of this event is cultural, historic, environmental or geopolitical remains ambiguous and open to interpretation.

The Stream 5
Hiroya Sakurai | 5:30 | Japan | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
This work is a dance between the sound of water and the movement of the algae. With the waterway as the theatre, I filmed the choreography of the algae that flows in the water. In the man-made waterways of rice paddies, the water in nature must follow artificial rules. In that way, nature is made abstract, giving rise to a new form of beauty distinct from the natural state. The theme of this work is the liveliness of the water as it follows the man-made course.

Niagara
Shelley Niro | 5:00 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
This video tells a simple story of love and loss. Niagara, originally called Ongniaahra, is a Mohawk word from the Haudenosaunee Nations.

Summer Song
Clint Enns | clintenns.tumblr.com
5:00 | Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Coney Island, Leslie, ice cream, Niagara Falls, home, Mia’s last breaths.

Over Water
Robert Todd | roberttoddfilms.com
31:40 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
A journey that unites and connects scattered pieces of an archaic architecture of water-related infrastructure in the Northeast, including piers, bridges and canal locks. The film centres on these structures as designs for mastery over water—hallmarks of civil construction in past centuries—and presents hints of an equally archaic ideology driving Western commerce.
Clinker

Eric Gaucher | 6:25 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere

Clinker is an experimental video that joins two ideas. The first embraces one of the few definitions of the word clinker, which is to play a wrong musical note. Consequently, the audio composition is intentionally fractured and generated with mistakes. Secondly, the video loosely borrows visual inspiration from Italian poet Lucretius’ poem The Nature of Things, specifically, book two entitled “The Dance of Atoms.” As a result, the joined notions explore a relationship through a lyrical yet abstract synthesis.

Twelve Tales Told

Johann Lurf | 4:00 | Austria | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere

A dozen logos for Hollywood production companies play before you as they would precede a normal Hollywood production; appropriately in 3D if watching digitally, in 2D on 35mm—self-aggrandizing in any format. Only, each logo sequence, some animated with glossy grandeur (Disney, Paramount), some more restrained (Regency, Warner Bros.), is stutteringly interwoven image by image into the others, beginning with the longest and ending with the shortest. The resulting visual effect is of a sustained anti-climax of bombast: the fanfare for the main attraction is drawn out and aggravated to become the main attraction... – Daniel Kasman

Parallel IV

Harun Farocki | 11:20 | Germany | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere

Parallel IV explores the actions of the heroes and protagonists of the video game world. These heroes have no parents or teachers; they must test their relationships with others and determine, of their own accord, the rules to follow. Farocki notes these characters are “homunculi, anthropomorphist beings, created by humans. Whoever plays with them has a share in the creator’s pride.”

Explorations of an Unexpected Time Traveler

Christina Battle | 5:51 | Canada | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere

Explorations of an Unexpected Time Traveler imagines a narrative where a woman from some undisclosed point in the past experiences continual unexplained and uncontrollable shifts in time and space. Suddenly finding herself in unfamiliar spaces, seemingly devoid of other people, she explores the various regions recording her discoveries through moving image, sound recordings and photographs. Shot in various cities and counties in Alberta, Colorado and Yukon Territory.

The Glass Record

Daniel King | 5:33 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere

A skipping across the mediated surface of scanner architecture. A not-so-exhaustive visual accumulation of reflection and transparency at the contact point where the physical becomes digital. What happens when looking becomes recording? When does transparent glass reveal its opaque nature? The Glass Record seeks to expose the invisible surface that has become ubiquitous in a hall of mirrors.

iINTERFACE

Mel Hsieh | 2:28 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere

Digital media is like a transparent thin layer of skin; it shields our notion of self, and also the ability to transform and change. iINTERFACE is an experimental film about a self-portrait made of assemblages and investigates co-existing multiple digital identities. “The best interface is no interface.”

Clouds Fall

IP Yuk-Yiu | ipyukyiu.com 28:33 | Hong Kong | 2014 | Victoria Premiere

Clouds Fall is a series of virtual tableaux, a speculative portrait of violence and its aftermath at the end of time. Together with Another Day of Depression in Kowloon (2012) and The Plastic Garden (2013), Clouds Fall forms a trilogy that hacks and reworks materials from the video game franchise Call of Duty, unearth hidden ghosts and poetics while creating evocative parallels through a kind of uncanny observation and navigation in the found virtual landscapes.
Dark Matter

Echoes
Jaimz Asmundson | 6:00 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Structured around the recollection of a premonitory dream, fragmented memories from the period leading up to the death of the filmmaker’s mother were projected onto natural textures and surfaces, rephotographed, composited and processed until the memories became abstracted representations of the evolution, degradation and disintegration of memory and the physical self.

Bleach
Don Best | 7:00 | Canada | 2014 | BC Premiere
Bleach combines the exploratory nature of cameraless animation with digital software to reference its titular properties: corrosive, toxic, cleansing, disinfectant, possibly fatal.

Found and Lost
Janis Crystal Lipzin | 8:20 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
A found home movie of a vacation in mid-20th century Bakersfield, CA, prompts reflection on lost times and lost technologies.

Traces
Erin Weisgerber | 5:12 | Canada | 2014 | BC Premiere
Trace n. 1. a. A visible mark, such as a footprint, made or left by the passage of a person, animal, or thing. b. Evidence or an indication of the former presence or existence of something; a vestige. 2. A barely perceivable indication.

Dark Matter
Karel Doing | 19:44 | Netherlands | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
With the second world war as a backdrop, the film follows the trail of the filmmaker’s father. Footage of industrial structures, moody forests and surreal half desert is combined with abstract, highly detailed and fast moving imagery. The film material itself tells a compelling story in form, colour and rhythm. A variety of chemical, bio-chemical and mechanical techniques were used for the creation of these animated “direct” images. The hybrid film form offers a sensory experience and simultaneously an intellectual challenge; who was this man, and what were his motives to travel as far away from his original home town as he could? Why did he photograph thousands of landscapes, but hardly took any pictures of his friends, family and colleagues?

Her Silent Seaming
Nazli Dinçel | 11:00 | USA | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
A transcription of what I have been told during intimate experiences while separating from my husband. Sections consist of destroyed originals from Leafless (2011), motifs of the “feminine” alluding to Jack Smith’s Flaming Creatures (1963) and of reconstruction of a pomegranate. These decorative objects are re-valued through a controlled act of cutting, with an allusion to synchronization. Obscured images clear out while the hand scratched text becomes harder to read with each section. Direct sound of cuts and hand processing are composed of 26 frame shots. Un-synced, it reveals a hearing of images from the past as an act of translation.

Bunte Kuh
Ryan Ferko, Parastoo Anoushahrour, Faraz Anoushahrour
ryanferko.com | 5:37 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Through a flood of images and impressions, a narrator attempts to recall a family holiday. Produced in Berlin and Toronto, Bunte Kuh is a collaboration which combines a found postcard, family photo album and original footage to weave together the temporal realities of two separate vacations.

I am a short way from home.
Andrew Lima | andrewplima.com
3:03 | Canada | 2015 | World Premiere
On a summer afternoon, scenes and sounds of playtime violence are all part of a carefully choreographed performance for the camera. This performative violence is shared amongst all participants, extending beyond the interior of the film frame onto the material itself as it passes through the gate of a Super 8 viewer.
Thursday | Oct 22 | 7pm

Performance for Perfection

Non-Stop Beautiful Ladies
Alee Peoples | 9:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
An LA street film starring empty signs, radio from passing cars and human sign spinners, some with a pulse and some without.

Body Hair Archive
Dorothy Lee | 4:17 | USA | 2014 | World Premiere
A loving and intimate 16mm exploration of the hair on our bodies as consideration of gender and self.

Something about which nothing can be said
Ted Kennedy | 14:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
“If I say of myself that it is only from my own case that I know what the word “pain” means—must I not say the same of other people too? And how can I generalize the one case so irresponsibly?” – Wittgenstein

Resolve To Be Ready
Eugene Sun Park | 7:25 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Based on a performance by artists Sara Zalek and Ginger Krebs, Resolve To Be Ready is a blend of event documentation and experimental video. The film invites the viewer into a bustling public space that becomes subtly charged by the presence of a mysterious lurker in black who drops an unmarked duffle bag in plain view. What is the appropriate reaction? Alarm? Fear? Humour?

Bialy
Judy Price | judithprice.ca | 4:00 | Canada | 2015 | World Premiere
“Bialy” is a Polish word which translates to “white.” In the context of this film, it alludes to erasure, whiting out, the creation of a tabula rasa.

Special Features
James N Kienitz Wilkins | automaticmoving.com
12:00 | USA | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Special Features is an apparent interview with three highlights. Presented as a lo-fi fragment from an unnamed video production, an interviewee interacts with an interviewer, recounting a special experience at once unique and shared. Assuming the familiar form of a sit-down interview, the role of the interviewee is quickly revealed as an edited performance, and depending on one’s “behind-the-scenes” knowledge, a performed interview, or documentation of actors performing text they are reading in real-time from a teleprompter, covering seemingly personal and uncomfortable topics normally left unsaid.

Down to Earth
Anna Vasof | 7:00 | Germany | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
It is no secret that shoes say a lot about the person wearing them. The shoe’s form, material and condition provide insight into social status, character and, last but not least, potential desires. In Down to Earth, Vasof refers to this multifunctional significance while putting a very particular spin on the concept of “footwear,” fabricating highly distinctive mechanical devices for each of her shoe designs, some of which set entire stories in motion upon walking.

Stick It
Stefan Ramirez Perez | 4:45 | Germany | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Stick It combines television footage of women’s gymnastics with recordings of the artist attempting the same routines. Merging himself and the young gymnasts of the 1996 Atlanta Olympics into a composite character, Ramirez enters an ambivalent position between envy, identification, rejection and critique of these highly controlled bodies and their restricted performative roles.

Performance for Perfection 1200
Ariana Gerstein | arianaegerstein.com
13:26 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
The Perfection 1200 is a 15-year-old photo document scanner. It renders an image over time, from right to left, not like the camera’s instant frame. As the scanner arm moves beneath the glass surface, it emits its own light which bounces off of the subject and returns information onto its internal CCDs. One scan, depending on resolution used, can take 10 to 20 seconds or more. Over that period of time, the subject breathes, shifts, trembles, while attempting to remain still for the picture. As the actor performs for the scanner, he does so in near silence, struggling with each isolated pose and breath for the duration. Fixed are the traces of the movements of life. The animation process rebuilds and unfixes the construction during play, recombined with breath and sound. Don Boros’s double speaks with his voice, about Beckett, acting and “living truthfully, under imaginary circumstances.”
Small Wonders

(i): crosshairs
Kate Shults | 4:01 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
A window is a portal. A portal is a prison.

Dust Poetry
Nan Wang | 9:12 | Netherlands | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere
Engrossing recombination of 16mm contact print film clips of insects and plants with images of house dust collected by the filmmaker. Dust Poetry reveals the hallucinogenic beauty of tiny, digitally processed surplus materials set to a pulsating soundtrack based on the sounds of insects and wind.

Australian Paper
Minjung Kim | 2:22 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
1,400 tints printed onto paper in 2005 are transferred to 16mm emulsion to be seen in a new light.

Catalogue Vol.2 (Film)
Dana Berman Duff | danaduff.com
8:44 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
The second of the Catalogue films—a series of 16mm black-and-white films and videos that consider the time it takes to look at desirable objects presented in a catalogue of knock-off home furnishings photographed in staged rooms imitating the style of film noir. Catalogue Vol.2 (Film) takes as its subject the “Rugs” volume of the 7-volume commercial catalogue and, in contrast to the silent images of constructed rooms in both the actual catalogue and the film catalogue, uses sound to expose the space of the studio behind the camera.

A Journey to the Shirakawa Sosui
Michael Lyons & Palle Dahlstedt
3:37 | Japan/Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
A stop motion Super 8 document of a walk to the Shirakawa canal in Kyoto during cherry blossom season. The soundtrack was created using an original apparatus called The Octopus. Voltages from light sensors on the projection screen control an analogue modular synthesizer. The film itself acts as a score.

Notes from the Interior
Benjamin Balcom | 11:05 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
A wandering through the self, an associative search for secrets. Inside and outside affects are muddled through dialectical play.

Brush
Mariam Eqbal | mariameqbal.com
2:14 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Brush is a collection of 1,000 brushstrokes of paint on glass. The work is an inquiry into the processes of time and the fundamentals of animated motion. It focuses on simplicity as a means of generating complexity.

Negative Nature
Dawn George | dawngeorge.com
6:25 | Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
A profound observation of nature’s forms and rhythms captured through the negative image on Super 8 reversal film.

Small Wonders
Katie Goodwin | katiegoodwin.com
14:07 | UK | 2013 | Cdn Premiere
Small Wonders follows microbiologist Terence Preston’s 50 year scientific and personal journey to discover how single-celled organisms move at the air-water interface. The film provides a rare and charming insight into this hidden amoebae world comparing their alien existence to our human experience, using as its centrepiece an hypnotic 16mm documentation of an experiment shot through a microscope by Preston in 1972, combined with found footage sourced from Ivor Beddoes’ family archive.
A Partial History

I’ve Been to Costa Rica
Sergio Rojas Chaves
5:41 | Costa Rica/Canada | 2014 | World Premiere
A compilation of testimonies by Canadians who have told me about their travels to Costa Rica. Their reminiscences are read over the 1947 travel film Calling on Costa Rica.

Prodigal
Livia Ungur & Sherng-Lee Huang | ungur-huang.com
8:11 | Romania/USA | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Capturing candid street scenes in urban Romania, Prodigal tracks the relationship between Ungur and the place she used to call home. Shooting with a long lens from a great distance, the filmmakers observe strangers and read their lips. From these fragments of conversation, Ungur’s own story emerges: a self-reflexive critique of documentary form, a poetic evocation of urban loneliness and a melancholy meditation on home.

The Traditional Day for Eating Grilled Eel
Joel Schlemowitz | joelschlemowitz.com
6:00 | Japan/USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Events of a summer day in Tokyo’s Yoyogi Park.

Traveling with Maxim Gorkiy
Bernd Luetzeler & Kolja Kunt | filmifunda.de
10:33 | Germany | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
As so often is the case, this film is more about allusion than description. This also applies to the persons represented. Flat silhouettes of people, heads depicted in profile, expressionless faces and formal gestures. In the background, a little bit of everyday life: the hard, square, stone architecture arises from ocher-colored, brownish, blackish melange of color. Or mud. A demonstration of the function of the central perspective. An idealized representation of a tropical paradise. Strangely, there’s no absurdity in this.

Mototanaka Dérive
Michael Lyons & Malte Steiner
4:17 | Japan/Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
This Super 8 film documents an aimless walk through one of Kyoto’s former outcaste neighbourhoods, which continues to exist below normal Japanese living standards. Despite pro-active legislation, people from families associated with such areas can experience discrimination. The soundtrack was created using a self-built apparatus we call The Octopus. Voltages from light sensors on the projection screen control an analogue modular synthesizer allowing the film itself to act as a score.

War Prayer
Richard Wiebe | 17:00 | Cyprus | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
There are icons in Cyprus that are centuries old. They bloom like flowers in houses, churches, monasteries and markets. Last summer marked the 40th anniversary of Cyprus’s invasion and partition. Today the island remains divided with abandoned spaces on both sides of the Green Line. For decades every US administration has exploited this partition, using military bases on the island to conduct surveillance in the Middle East. An icon is a prayer, a window to heaven, to a listening ear.

A Partial History of the Natural World, 1965
Sasha Waters Freyer | pieshake.com
6:45 | USA/Vietnam | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
A meditative exploration of the violent struggle for independence in Southeast Asia and butterfly metamorphosis. Framed by excerpts from Sylvia Plath’s poem “Tulips,” A Partial History of the Natural World, 1965 reminds us that the denial of the suffering of others is not a viable option.

Minore
Yiorgos Nalpantidis | yiorgosnalpantidis.com
5:15 | Greece | 2014 | NA Premiere
Minore is a found footage film, consisting mostly of edited and manipulated family movie clips and inspired by “Smyrneiko Minore,” a traditional song first recorded in 1918. Minore is both a meditation on the affiliation between audio and moving image and an attempt to reform a missing and forgotten relationship to the world.

Deep Sleep
Basma Alsharif
12:45 | Greece/Malta/Palestinian Territory | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
A hypnosis-inducing pan-geographic shuttle built on brainwave-generating binaural beats, Deep Sleep takes us on a journey through the sound waves of Gaza to travel between different sights of modern ruin. Restricted from travel to Palestine, I learned auto-hypnosis for the purpose of bi-locating. What results is a journey, recorded on Super 8 film, to the ruins of ancient civilizations embedded in modern civilization in ruins, to a site ruined beyond evidence of civilization.
And you love that humid atmosphere,
And you look so lush under glass.

Powder Placenta
Katrina Daschner | 9:00 | Austria | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Powder Placenta is a fairy tale that narrates the interconnectedness of seemingly separate spaces, spheres, strata and how they desire to be intertwined. We see Baroque wall paintings in Lower Austria’s Harmannsdorf castle; forests and river meadows through which a pack of wolves wander; and Daschner’s theatrical stage peopled by alternately confused or enchanted mythical creatures—a richly fertile and iridescent world where all shapes are round and the juice of life bumbles and flows freely. – Olaf Möller

Bird Songs of Doom
Lansing Bruce Robertson | 3:36 | Canada | 2015 | World Premiere
It’s doomsday and the birds are singing merrily. Turns out they’re probably up to something. Thanks a lot, birds.

The Betrayal
Susan Young | 5:40 | UK | 2015 | NA Premiere
The Betrayal is a dark tale about emotional enmeshment and loss of trust. A patient, trapped in a nightmarish relationship with her megalomaniac doctor, resorts to desperate measures to escape.

Technicolor Angst
Ketchup Freeland | technicolorangst.com
12:30 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
Our heroine and Stella are best friends 4evah, discussing global politics and how they’re gonna deal with it. That is until Stella gives the deuces and a basic bitch moves in: with all the strain and all the pain, will rage consume our heroine?

Medicated/Condition
Marc Pitler | marc-pitler.com
2:58 | USA | 2015 | World Premiere
Documenting the maker’s life on—and off—antidepressants, the film is divided into two sections. The first, Medicated, is distorted through hand processing to represent the chemical distortion of brain chemistry created by antidepressants while allowing their users to engage in their surroundings. The second section, Condition, reveals a world without the bias of these substances to document and explore the issues revealed in their absence.

Farewell to Hell
Sabine Marte | 7:00 | Austria | Cdn Premiere
How did we get in here? All at once (in a flash pan) we’re invited into an empty sun-bathed room, haunted by ghostly voices. The picture trembles, the voices jump slightly. A naked body with a reddish tinge breathes, folds and unfolds, filling the frame. A spotty, greenish-black pattern resembles a boil. In a gloomy hallway we peep around a corner—into another space with no escape. Who has the last laugh now?

The Rapture
Michael Fleming | michaelfleming.com
5:00 | Netherlands | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
The Rapture is a pulsating bombardment of images about our insatiable pursuit of perpetual happiness and freedom from fear. A frame by frame hand manipulated 35mm celluloid collage film, the found footage is augmented by stills that were taken from various magazines, then distorted and deformed.

The History of Women
Darian Stansbury | 15:25 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
The title alludes to Foucault’s The History of Sexuality—not a chronological study of women, but a video essay abstracting the construct of womanhood. Vignettes feature a secret society of women experiencing mystical sensations during their menses.
Behind the Torchlight
Emily Drummer | emilydrummer.com
8:17 | USA | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere

Behind the Torchlight creates a transhistorical space—a place neither here nor there—that reflects the missing history of “the usherette” in early American cinemas. At once on display and concealed by the partial darkness of the theater interior, usherettes served as objects of fantasy for moviegoers and were themselves spectators.

Tribute to Busby
Eytan Ipeker | 6:00 | Turkey | 2014 | Cdn Premiere

A kaleidoscopic homage to the great choreographer and director.

Pas Deux
Scott Leroux | 5:00 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere

Created in collaboration with dancer Sasha Amaya, Pas Deux is an exploration of movement and colour and how each can be manipulated and emphasized with digital means. The score is produced on an analog organ and a palette of RGB. Pas Deux acts as reference to the past and the technologies that have brought visual and music to where it is today.

Enduring Ornament
MM Serra & Josh Lewis | joshlewisfilm.com
14:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere

In 2004, MM Serra discovered a box of short 16mm nudie films outside of a closing adult bookstore on 42nd Street. These films, created cheaply in the 1940s for coin-operated peepshow booths, are final remnants of Manhattan’s disappearing sex district. A decade later, Josh Lewis was driving a truck from Cleveland to New York with a salvaged contact printer, itself a discard from filmmaking’s waning material dependence. These two acts of reclamation prompted Serra and Lewis’ collaboration, beginning a year-long process of duplicating, reprinting and chemically altering the films into various states of abstraction. Threaded throughout is compound word poetry by Baroness Elsa von Freytag Loringhoven, giving voice to an immediate and transgressive consciousness.

Where We Stand
Lindsay McIntyre | 5:00 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere

Where We Stand is a haunting portrait of theatres shot on handmade 16mm emulsion. With a strong commitment to retaining the language of film, Where We Stand takes a hard look at the fragile future of films made on film in this digital age.

Traces/Legacy
Scott Stark | scottstark.com | 9:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere

Traces/Legacy uses a device called a film recorder to print a series of digital still images onto 35mm film. Discarded Christmas trees, colourfully arranged flea market finds, a museum of animal kills, microscopic views of kitchenware and other overlooked cultural artifacts are interwoven with flickering journeys through mysterious, shadowy realms.

The 35mm projector can only show a portion of the image at a time, so the viewer sees alterations between the top and bottom half of each frame. The images also overlap onto the optical sound area of the film, generating their own unique sounds.

7285
Sarah J Christman | 6:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere

Coda for a film stock. A cresting wave, a pregnancy in the third trimester, a tennis match in the fourth set, the cicadas’ song—a stream of precarious moments of falling action, caught before their end.

Still Feeling Blue About Colour Separation
Christine Lucy Latimer | 2:07 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere

This film rephotographs over 200 internet-sourced images of Macbeth ColorChecker cards on Super 8 cyanotype emulsion. Macbeth Cards (precision tools in colour film processing), were a popular accessory for small-gauge Kodachrome filmmakers in the 1970s. They have since been re-adopted by contemporary digital photographers, who use them to compare lighting scenarios on internet blogs and forums. Tracing the history of the colour calibration card through many lenses, I effectively remove all colours, save one.

I’m in Pittsburgh and It’s Raining
Jesse McLean | 14:19 | USA | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere

Detour de Force

Fugue
Kerstin Schroedinger
8:05 | Canada/Germany | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
In music, a fugue is a contrapuntal compositional technique in two or more voices. It builds on a motive that is introduced at the beginning in imitation and recurs frequently over the course of the composition. Fugue is a formal and physical experiment in order to understand the relationship between image, sound and movement. Movements and setting are informed by motion studies conducted and filmed at the beginning of the 20th century with the aim to use filmmaking for analysing motions of manual mechanised labour as well as concepts of biomechanics that elaborate the relation between body and mind as a form of actors’ training.

[sic] series
Roger Beebe | rogerbeebe.com | 4:30 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Three found fragments, perfect exactly as found.

Fabric
Christoph Girardet | 9:30 | Netherlands | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Fabric is an elegant experimental montage using as its source the remaining workprints from a lost commercial film about viscose. Within a constructed modernist setting, the original attempt of the film to visualize perfect images of a young tailor and models dressed in this sensual modern fabric is reimagined and reanimated through the vestiges of outtakes and cinematic selvage.

Bikini
Daniel McIntyre | danielmcintyre.info
7:18 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Once again, Bikini Atoll becomes the scene of the most dramatic nuclear explosion of all... Bikini is an atomic beach party film—a reaction to dating apps, body issues and a fear of the sun. It’s a world where even the dreamer can’t catch a break, let alone a wave. We’re all at odds with "the muscles," and everyone has an opinion about what to live for. The men keep rolling in like they’re on a conveyor belt, the bombs keep dropping and all we can do is keep surfing.

By the Time We Got to Expo
Eva Kolcze & Phil Hoffman | evakolcze.com | philiphoffman.ca
9:06 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
A meditative journey through Expo 67, re-visiting a significant moment in Canadian history using manipulated imagery taken from educational and documentary films. Footage has been re-worked using tints, toners and photochemical techniques to create a vibrant collision of colours, textures and forms.

Effigy in Emulsion
Karissa Hahn | karissahahn.com | 3:15 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
8mm found footage is taped to 16mm clear leader and re-filmed on the optical printer. An artifact from an occasion is examined. A photographer stole a frame of my stolen film! What could be uncovered in this washed out frame? A study in exposure change to uncover/un-develop an unknown memory.

Detour de Force
Rebecca Baron | 29:00 | Austria/USA | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Detour de Force presents the world of “thoughtographer” Ted Serios, a charismatic Chicago bellhop who, in the mid-1960s produced hundreds of Polaroid images with his mind. Constructed from 16mm documentation of Serios’s sessions and audio recordings of Serios speaking with Dr. Jule Eisenbud, the Denver psychiatrist who championed his abilities, the film is more ethnography than biography, portraying the social and scientific environments in which Serios thrived. The film foregrounds the state of image and sound recording technologies of the period as essential to the emergence of Serios’s psychic photography. It is also a document of the filmmaker’s encounters with the archival materials themselves.
Sunday | Oct 25 | 7pm

This Unwieldy Object

The Golden Hour
Ross Meckfessel | rossmeckfessel.com
7:20 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
The stink of seaweed permeates the streets. I’ve heard there’s growing dissatisfaction among the youth. Do you feel content? How often do you dream? Are you better off alone?

“The Golden Hour wanders through the fragments of post-civilization and finds a spectral energy lurking beneath and emanating from the sonic and surface textures of natural and manmade environments, abandoned statues and dance beats. Living and dead collide as the world falls apart.” – James Hansen

Self Portrait Portrait
James Hollenbaugh | 6:00 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Bryan Lewis Saunders has been creating a self-portrait every day for nearly twenty years. This short documentary examines his process and determination to create, without pretension or boundaries. Each portrait is a unique slice from Bryan’s daily life exploring a wide range of emotions, desires and fears.

This Unwieldy Object
Anna Zett | thisunwieldyobject.tumblr.com
47:00 | Germany | 2014 | NA Premiere
In This Unwieldy Object the animated dinosaurs of Hollywood cinema meet the petrified ghosts of colonial history. We follow the protagonist on a road trip into the dusty heart of the USA, where fossil traders, sculptors and scientists reconstruct the plot of natural history. But the more experts and entrepreneurs she talks to, the more obscure their projects appear. Dig sites become crime scenes and fossils turn into characters, determined to play a part in the disrupted history of the American West. As the protagonist gets carried away by her own theories, the screen itself turns into a virtual dig site for unwieldy objects existing somewhere between science and fiction, trauma and entertainment, the remote past and the near future.
Two Weeks – Two Minutes
Judith Poirier | 2:53 | Canada | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere
Two Weeks – Two Minutes, a film and a book, explores the double-page format and the notion of time in both media. During a residency at the Centre for Book and Paper Arts in Chicago, Poirier printed simultaneously on paper and 35mm clear film stock using a letterpress. The letters, stereotypes and ornaments printed on celluloid generate the animation as well as the soundtrack.

Lyrics on the Paper
Jeremy Rourke | jeremyrourke.com
3:00 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Lyrics on the Paper is an animated music video for a song of the same title, made during an artist residency at Recology, a Bay Area waste management facility. All of the imagery, paint and objects used in the animation were scavenged by the artist from the waste flow of San Francisco, CA.

At Thirty, the Party Was Over
Dan Boord & Luis Valdovino
11:29 | USA/South Korea | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
At Thirty, the Party Was Over is a response to the contemporary poetry of South Korea. The title refers to a poem by Choi Young-mi. Everything in Seoul, Korea seems to talk to you; elevators, escalators, tollbooths, crosswalks and rice cookers. One history also speaks to another, tourists with Samsung cell phones populate a ninth century temple while camera crews at another historic site film a program about a 15th century palace.

Rumours
Nayla Dabaji | 8:24 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
A person carefully makes paper planes out of a pile of newspapers, suggesting that words can become weapons. Once thrown into the air, these wandering words reveal all sorts of contradictory and imaginary stories. Rumours is inspired by The Words of the Chairman, a film by Harun Farocki (1967). The text is a remake of the story of a trickle of blood that raced across the village to tell Ursula about the death of her son in Gabriel-Garcia Marquez’s One Hundred Years of Solitude (1988).

Soliloquy
Gina Basso | 3:05 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Lo-fi found footage traverses spaces between the abstract and the surreal, alienation and intimacy. Love’s thoughts are unknowable and infinite.

Salix Tree
Victor Arroyo | victor-arroyo.com
10:00 | Canada | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Salix Tree is the documentation of a displaced domestic space, and ethnographic document meant to be experienced as a passage between languages, a concentration of voices whose identity remains opaque. In which language does one document oneself when there is no longer a mother tongue?

POEM
Dan Browne | 3:45 | Canada | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
An ode to my daily environment and the presences of two beings—one newly arrived, the other recently departed.

It stayed | Where I saw it | Then it moved a fraction | To the left and then twice that | Distance again further and further | It | disappeared | Then just faintly | A corner of it just a fraction | Was visible if you peered | Very very closely | And just as | quietly | it was | gone (Michael Snow, 1957)

Starfish Aorta Colossus
Lynne Sachs & Sean Hanley | 4:45 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Poetry watches film. Film reads poetry. Paolo Javier’s text is a catalyst for the digital sculpting of an 8mm Kodakchrome canvas. Syntactical ruptures and the celebration of nouns illuminate 25 years of rediscovered film journeys.

Take it apart and put together again
Maria Magnusson | mariamagnusson.tumblr.com
15:45 | Sweden | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Take it apart and put together again is an experimental documentary about the Swedish motorcycle club Sofia Hogs, founded in 1968 in Stockholm. The club was inspired by the flower power movement, the film Easy Rider and easy access to decommissioned Harleys from the allied war efforts. The film is constructed from an insider’s perspective reflecting on childhood memories and employing photographs culled from several family albums. It is a collaboration between Magnusson and Linus Winstam [aka Bruce Leenus] who created the soundtrack and is the son of interviewee and club member Hasse Rush.
Wednesday | Oct 28 | 7pm

Ghosts of the Joe Henry

bernard gaspé
Lindsay McIntyre | 5:00 | Canada | 2013 | BC Premiere
An in-camera journey across the tracks in Montréal’s Mile End.

Jáaji Approx.
Sky Hopinka | skyhopinka.com | 7:37 | USA | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Logging and approximating a relationship between audio recordings of my father and videos gathered of the landscapes we have both separately traversed, this work approaches its concept through a tapering use of IPA (International Phonetic Alphabet) transcriptions of the audio. The initial distance between the logger and the recordings, of recollections and of songs—new and traditional—narrows while the images become an expanding semblance of filial affect. Jáaji is a near translation for directly addressing a father in the HoCak language.

carte noire
Michaela Grill | 3:00 | Austria/Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
White flashes in the dark of the night. As though etched out, dabbed in. Flickering spectres, ghostly visions. A veritable phantom ride, a film of tension.

In carte noire, Grill’s sinister road movie miniature, she continues her cinematic movement from an object’s abstraction to its alienation. She now arrives at a classical, and highly charged motif from popular culture and cinema: the lonely car ride on an empty road through the countryside, which more or less automatically sets off trans-genre associations.

Night Noon
Shambhavi Kaul | shambhavikaul.com
12:00 | Mexico/USA | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Unmoving rock collapsed to ocean—geology’s “thrust and fold”—becomes the unlikely habitat for two actors’ shadowy encounters with sand, waves, night, desert, dread, calm, trepidation and escape.

“Shambhavi Kaul’s Night Noon sets up dialectical dread in Death Valley with a series of uncanny shots of eroded, geological formations and dunes that seemingly fold into night skies and shimmering waters. Beginning in Zabriskie Point, the film surreptitiously crosses over into Mexico, its creative geography never far from our cinematic memory.” – Andréa Picard, TIFF

1000 Plateaus (2004–2014)
Steven Woloshen | 3:21 | Canada | 2014 | BC Premiere
Made entirely in the front seat of a car with simple art tools, this short hand-made film celebrates the joy of road maps, travel and jazz music.

[car] Hypnophobia
Ava Lowrey | 5:36 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
An experimental documentary about sleep, family, fear and mortality.

Alberta
Dan Browne | danbrowne.ca | 2:50 | Canada | 2014 | World Premiere
Journeys in Banff and Jasper National Parks, Alberta.

“A journey without arrival in the great tradition of Canadian landscape travelogues.” – Richard Kerr

Ghosts of the Joe Henry
Dan Sokolowski | ghostsofjoe.com
26:15 | Canada | 2015 | BC Premiere
The Dempster (Joe Henry) Highway is the only road in Canada that crosses the Arctic Circle. It is the meeting of a manmade entity and some of the most isolated landscapes on the planet. Locally, it is often referred to as “The Joe Henry Highway” in honour of Tr’ondëk Hwëch’in Elder Joe Henry, who was instrumental in the construction of the highway that passes through their traditional lands. Ghosts of the Joe Henry is an assemblage of sensations—the people, flora and fauna that inhabit the earth that the highway traverses.
Robot Pavlov Sputnik

Oliver Hockenhull | 7:23 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere
A confluence of intent and a revisiting of an iconic animation by Norman McLaren—Synchromy 1971. McLaren’s Synchromy is an early form of machine art, a formal modernist gesture revealing and reveling in the immediate transparency of code and signal, a chimerical fantasy of speculative references—prophetic futurism reading itself, speaking itself. Robot Pavlov Sputnik reinterprets and composites the morphic quality of code, its slippage and variability, creating a highly saturated abstracted wave ocean horizon/sunrise pulsed imagistically by the musical track.

Screen Memory
Laura Fletcher | 5:58 | USA | 2015 | Cdn Premiere
Screen Memory tells the story of the filmmaker’s mother’s encounter with astronaut John Glenn in the early 1960s.

cyberGenesis
André Silva | 13:00 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
cyberGenesis is a fantastical, animated journey (segments of which have been creatively crowd-sourced) that imagines a future creation myth, crafted by cyber consciousness from bits and pieces of humanity’s online legacy.

A place I’ve never been
Adrian Flury | adrianflury.com
5:00 | Switzerland | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
By sourcing multiple digital images of the same place from different archives this experiment in film makes use of frame by frame montage to discover hidden forms, patterns and references thereby giving new meaning to the prevailing redundancy of these pictures.

HiFi Normal
Amanda Dawn Christie & Léandre Bourgeois
7:29 | Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
“Toward the insignificant” was the concept that inspired this collaboration. Beginning with representational images of a local landmark, the image gradually decays until it is replaced completely with abstraction. Two VHS decks were joined together and plugged into one side of a handmade DIY video mixer; while the other input of the mixer was connected to a VHS camera running a feedback loop. The starting image running on the loop was a static image of a telecommunications tower in the centre of Moncton which in recent years, has become almost useless, standing alone in the middle of this otherwise flat city. Just as the image was built by performing with analogue VHS decks, the sound track was made using analogue synthesizers.

General Public Identity
Robert Hamilton | 1:10 | Canada | 2014 | BC Premiere
A reflection on notions of privacy, identity and memory.

Utopia 1.0: Post-Neo-Futurist-Capitalism in 3D!
Annie Berman | fishinhand.com
20:00 | USA/Second Life | 2015 | World Premiere
Utopia 1.0: Post-Neo-Futurist-Capitalism in 3D! is an expedition through a largely abandoned virtual 3D world in search of utopia. It is an absurd idea, as the title suggests. There is no such thing as post-neo-futurist-capitalism just as there is no such thing as utopia. Utopia, literally defined from the Greek etymology means “no place.” Thomas More invented the word to name his invented island—a place (a “no place”) that represented a perfect society. Yet, despite its existence, our very notion of progress depends on our ability to imagine utopia, to imagine a better world. This film is not even in 3D, but rather depicts a 3D rendered world in 2D. But more than mere trickery, the title reaches for the imaginary while suggesting that something better is yet to come.
Hacked Circuit

RELAY
Steve Cossman | 11:20 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
An observational document of the visual environment created by artist Ei Wada (Sony Music, Japan). Wadasan re-wires Braun-tubed TVs to function similar to a theremin. Performing in the dark, he creates a unique audio/visual experience using broadcast signal and VHS cassette tapes with distorted image output to control frequency. Playing multiple televisions like a drum-set, he uses his own hands to control amplitude. The film was shot entirely on Super 8, hand processed and transferred to DV with live sound recorded in Osnebruck, Germany and Tokyo, Japan.

Pure Virtual Function
Péter Lichter | 2:50 | Hungary | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Pure Virtual Function is an abstract meditation on the representation of violence, the connection of virtual and real aggression. The film was made from painted 35 mm film strips and sound recording from the Iraq war.

Bridge
Kevin T Allen | smallgauge.org
10:58 | USA | 2013 | W Cdn Premiere
A study of three similar but distinct microcultures: the Manhattan Bridge, Brooklyn Bridge and Williamsburg Bridge. Interrogated through the use of contact microphones, the physical infrastructures of these bridges become audible and reveal their inherent macro-acoustics. The film treats the bridge as an anthropological body for discourse, as a physiology of limbs, organs, eyes and ears moving in time.

Über Sehen (On Seeing)
Daliah Ziper | daliahziper.tk | 10:00 | Germany | 2014 | World Premiere
“Streetlights…you remind me of my life, of your life, of the life of our generations: modestly bending over the cross-roads of times, to give light…” – Bardhyl Londo
As light and sound sources, street lamps create an audiovisual synthesis: all sounds in this film derive solely from them.

Sandy
Andrew Lima | andrewplima.com
1:44 | Canada | 2015 | World Premiere
Static recordings from a police radio scanner and images of fractured DV landscapes along a lonesome highway provide an imagined and abstracted representation of Sandy’s internal struggle during her defiant, last ride.
It is with great pleasure that Antimatter presents the world premiere of Pendulum by usaginingen, performing for the first time in North America. A compound word meaning "rabbit man" in Japanese, usaginingen is a duo of artists, Shinichi and Emi Hirai, currently based in Berlin, who travel the world with their unique and magical brand of expanded cinematic performance. A hybrid of mad invention and shamanic animism, usaginingen have invented the prototype analogue instruments they perform with (both of which pack down into checked luggage): TA-CO, which generates imagery, has a camera, an animation table with layers, rotating drum, water-basins, coloured ink, beads, mirrors, prisms and much more, while SHIBAKI comprises a percussion kit connected to a MIDI controller and a stringed instrument.

usaginingen (Shinichi & Emi Hirai)
Japan/Germany | usaginingen.com

usaginingen has performed at numerous international music and art festivals including Fusion Festival (Germany), Vision' R Festival (France), roBOt07 Festival (Italy), the Setouchi Triennale and Camera Japan. In 2014, they won the award for best Live Cinema category at the Punto y Raya Festival in Reykjavik, Iceland.

A joy to behold. – Flatpack Festival, Birmingham

usaginingen takes the electronic music to a new level and leaves us with a new classification of art as artisanal, and carefully performed by artists who know how to communicate to the public their sensitivity and imagination. – Fridrik Steinn, Reykjavik Centre for Visual Music

usaginingen invented their own machines seeking to delight and surprise their audience, as people not only can enjoy the performance on the screens, but also feel the light explosions all around them, and witness the performers’ movements on stage. – Nöel Palazzo, Punto y Raya
Friday | Oct 30 | 7pm

Holland, MAN.

effulgence
Alex MacKenzie | alexmackenzie.ca
4:30 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere
An ode to childhood and nature’s passing in an urban world, contrasting refilmed vintage Vancouver tourist bureau promos with original negative Tri-X shot from the back porch and bucket processed.

Notes from the Farm
Caryn Cline | 7:25 | USA | 2014 | Cdn Premiere
Notes from the Farm documents my response to an artists’ residency at the Independent Imaging Retreat (the Film Farm) in rural Ontario. Having grown up in rural Missouri, but having since lived exclusively in large urban areas, I found the Film Farm both familiar and strange. I shot and hand-processed live action scenes on the farm, using organic materials [trees, flowers, plants] as mattes for my post-residency work with the optical printer, where I combined these mattes and scenes with handmade botanicollage film that I created from plants gathered at the farm.

Interstices II
Kyle Whitehead & Graeme Patterson | kinodelic.com
3:41 | Canada | 2014 | BC Premiere
Interstices II is the second work in an ongoing series of collaborative, in-camera, double-exposure Super 8 films. Unstable and intransitive by nature, these resonant and dissonant images-sentences continuously ebb and flow in and around each other, vying for presence on screen and in the mind’s eye.

You Fig
Jessica Gnyp & Víctor Ballesteros
9:22 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere
Over the fence in our neighbour’s back yard a fig tree produces fruit that ripens and rots. Meanwhile, life goes on around and within it.

Screening + Performance @ Deluge

Prima Materia
Charlotte Pryce | charlottepryce.net
3:15 | USA | 2015 | W Cdn Premiere
Delicate threads of energy spiral and transform into mysterious microscopic cells of golden dust: these are the luminous particles of the alchemist’s dream. Prima Materia is inspired by the haunting wonderment of Lucretius’ De Rerum Natura. It is an homage to the first, tentative photographic records that revealed the extraordinary nature of phenomena lurking just beyond the edge of human vision.

The Dollhouse
Chad Galloway & Heather Benning
7:41 | Canada | 2014 | Vic Premiere
For decades, The Dollhouse stood in a frozen field just off of Highway #2 in the Canadian Prairies. A match was lit and, in a few moments, its walls and everything they held were lost forever.

Disturbance
Tracy Peters | 3:19 | Canada | 2014 | W Cdn Premiere
Disturbance is a multi-sensory video that places the viewer inside of an abandoned grain shed on a windy day. Relentless wind gusts force a door to swing open and shut with a blinding flash of light.

Holland, MAN.
Aaron Zeghers | aaronzeghers.com
20:00 | Canada | 2015 | World Premiere
As two growing years pass, Don Zeghers—farmer from Holland, Manitoba—phases out his multi-generational family farm. With experimental photography on Super 8, 16mm and digital mediums, his son Aaron follows this life change and the dissolution of the family farm—perhaps a microcosm of the modern industrialized world. Nature is contrasted with industrial might in this sentimental and existential portrait of the filmmaker’s own family.

Presented as an expanded cinema performance with live sound and image manipulation by the artist: three 16mm, one Super 8 and one digital projector.
Friday | Oct 30 | 9pm

Je Ne Sais Plus

& Human
6:00 | USA | 2011 | video
A body politic pop-up for pediatric research is taken over by the kids themselves.

White Coat Phenomenon
3:00 | USA | 2012 | video
Finding sex in an unexpected location requires some examination.

Body Contours
6:00 | USA | 2015 | video
Make movies in your mind, feel the soundtrack, and drift away from your body for the win.

Threadbare
6:00 | USA | 2014 | 16mm
Fever-dreams process the labor of a medical research subjects. The clinical gaze holds tight to the profitable conjuring made possible by vulnerable bodies.

Je Ne Sais Plus [What Is This Feeling]
10:00 | USA | 2012 | 9 x 16mm performance
An obstacle course between the heart and the doctor’s office leads to [DESTINY]. Playing her tower of projectors, Kristin Reeves meditates on the materiality of the body and the struggle to achieve personal sovereignty within its bounds. Je Ne Sais Plus is the French version of Lesley Gore’s hit “You Don’t Own Me,” translating into English as I don’t know what I once knew, or I don’t know anymore. What feelings are in this mistranslation?

_Kristin Reeves_ (reevesmachine.com) has exhibited her interdisciplinary work internationally in museums, galleries, theatres, events and festivals such as the Museum of Contemporary Art Chicago and Microscope Gallery (Brooklyn) and was included in the 26th European Media Art Festival’s Best of the Festival program (Osnabrück). She has also collaborated on over 20 multimedia performances including productions with Steppenwolf Theatre in Chicago. Reeves is an Assistant Professor of Photography at Murray State University in Kentucky where she can be found laser cutting 16mm film and managing her ever-expanding projector collection.

Screening + Performance @ Deluge & Human

& Human
6:00 | USA | 2011 | video
A body politic pop-up for pediatric research is taken over by the kids themselves.

White Coat Phenomenon
3:00 | USA | 2012 | video
Finding sex in an unexpected location requires some examination.

Body Contours
6:00 | USA | 2015 | video
Make movies in your mind, feel the soundtrack, and drift away from your body for the win.

Threadbare
6:00 | USA | 2014 | 16mm
Fever-dreams process the labor of a medical research subjects. The clinical gaze holds tight to the profitable conjuring made possible by vulnerable bodies.

Je Ne Sais Plus [What Is This Feeling]
10:00 | USA | 2012 | 9 x 16mm performance
An obstacle course between the heart and the doctor’s office leads to [DESTINY]. Playing her tower of projectors, Kristin Reeves meditates on the materiality of the body and the struggle to achieve personal sovereignty within its bounds. Je Ne Sais Plus is the French version of Lesley Gore’s hit “You Don’t Own Me,” translating into English as I don’t know what I once knew, or I don’t know anymore. What feelings are in this mistranslation?

_Kristin Reeves_ (reevesmachine.com) has exhibited her interdisciplinary work internationally in museums, galleries, theatres, events and festivals such as the Museum of Contemporary Art Chicago and Microscope Gallery (Brooklyn) and was included in the 26th European Media Art Festival’s Best of the Festival program (Osnabrück). She has also collaborated on over 20 multimedia performances including productions with Steppenwolf Theatre in Chicago. Reeves is an Assistant Professor of Photography at Murray State University in Kentucky where she can be found laser cutting 16mm film and managing her ever-expanding projector collection.
Bruce’s Borders
8:00 | Canada | 2013 | 3 x 16mm performance
A physical adaptation of Victorian Frames, Borders and Cuts, published by the Dover Pictorial Archive; a study in embellishment from the 1882 type catalog of George Bruce’s Son and Company (1882/1976/2013).

Second Star
15:00 | Canada | 2015 | 1 x 16mm performance
Second Star is a sound performance for moving image mechanics. Black and white text is laser-printed onto clear, recycled 16mm film, assembled into loops and translated into rhythm and tone by the analog projector. Photographic tradition is eschewed in favour of something invested neither in abstraction nor representation, reimagining the potential for an obsolete technology.

FAG
4:30 | Canada | 2014 | 16mm
“Really, when it comes to gay rights, there’s two wars going on. The first war is political. But the culture war is over.” – Dan Savage.
How do you transgress in 2015? Don’t bother. A personal Venn diagram, a conceptual cobbbling together of interests and identifiers, a sound and animation experiment rendered in all 260 fonts on my MacBook.

Blue Movie
2:00 | Canada | 2014 | 16mm
C+M for YK. Subtractive colour blending is used in an attempt to conjure Yves Klein’s L’accord bleu (RE 10), 1960. The limitations imposed by media and technology ensure that my perfect pigment never is, and that what is produced is ephemeral, declarative and reverent of the impure.

Screen Test 1 (self-portrait)
2:30 | Canada | 2015 | 16mm
Laser-printed onto recycled 16mm film.

Dingbat’s Revenge
7:00 | Canada | 2015 | 16mm
Can an experimental animator follow contemporary Hollywood logic? New ideas are out of fashion; everything’s a trilogy. Laser-printed onto recycled 16mm film, Dingbat’s Revenge is a coded, stroboscopic manifesto pitched somewhere between abstraction and representation.
“Can you feel that? We’re done here. Move out of the way or I’m gonna run you over.” – Tony Stark

BCKGRNDS, PTTRNS, TXTRS + TNTS
15:00 | Canada | 2013 | 3 x 16mm performance
Ink is transferred directly from the page to the filmstrip in BCKGRNDS, PTTRNS, TXTRS + TNTS—an ongoing cinematic adaptation of repeating patterns by iconic American graphic designer Clarence P. Hornung.

Scott Fitzpatrick [artbarbarian.tumblr.com] is a visual artist (Libra) from YWG whose film and video work has screened at underground festivals and marginalized venues worldwide. He studied film theory and production (briefly) at the University of Manitoba and began conducting lo-fi moving image experiments in 2010. He is primarily a filmmaker, also invested in photography, rephotography, kaleidoscope and collage.
Marilyn, her sister Kim, Janet and Kevin were all in the garage punk band The Bedtime Girls. That was before Kim’s mysterious death left the group distraught and without direction… Now a year after Kim’s death Marilyn too finds herself a victim of fate, and dies in a car accident…

But was it all just an unfortunate coincidence, or did that blue light Kevin’s really weird “church group” seems to worship have anything to do with it? And why does that ouija board know the lyrics to punk songs the girls used to listen to? We’ll find that out and more when Marilyn and Kim reconvene in purgatory to make one final punk record before their souls converge with the universe.

Two sisters live life, party and then die. As their souls travel through purgatory in search of each other they work towards tapping into “the signal”—a relentless patch of aggressive short wave radio sounds and VHS images. Their existence continued on after death due to the recordings they made in life.

“We set out to make a DIY film that both cost relatively nothing to make and that could be made relatively quickly [eight months from pre-production to final sound mix]. We wanted to make a film that spoke directly to our interests and to our influences without regard to genre, format or style. We freely jump between narrative film, experimental film, video art, youtube glitch mashup, structuralist film, music video, home movies, sound art and documentary films in style; and we freely move between VHS camera, HD digital camera and audio over a black screen.

We wanted to make a film as a sort of ‘visual album’ and construct it in a way our favorite punk rock records were produced—at a breakneck pace, rough around the edges and big on attitude. Our soundtrack consists of all female-fronted punk bands from Southern California. They kick ass. Punk is a collection of individuals and that’s how we wanted to treat our film making process.

We used non-actors and improvised most of the dialogue throughout the movie. We set up scenarios and objectives that allowed our non-actors to bring in their own experiences and stories, while maintaining the overall story’s idea—that cinema and other recording mediums are a way to capture place and time, potentially having your memories, and in turn yourself—live forever.

The ideas of the film are not new. Our intention is to get a ‘feeling’ rather than elucidate any meaning from something as tired of a conversation as ‘what happens when we die?’”

– The Betschart Bros.
How do you mourn a country and a history of which you feel so distant and attached to at the same time? How do you deal with the loss of something you’ve never really known? Is it possible to construct a cultural identity in the absence of a country that is nevertheless one’s own? Is the absence of this referent the source of the uncanny feeling I’ve been experiencing?

_No Time for Tomorrow_ was envisioned as part of a larger first person experimental documentary on cultural identity. The idea for the project first came about after a trip to Syria with my father and sister; one of the rare times I had travelled there. Not long after our visit and right before the beginning of the war, my grandmother passed away and I realized I didn’t really know her or Syria. Half Belgian, half Syrian, I was born and raised in Montreal and never had much contact with that part of my cultural heritage. Her passing and the beginning of the uprising triggered the need to investigate this post-diasporic Syrian identity that was both so familiar and foreign to me.

When I started working through ideas of identity, history and memory, found footage seemed like the most appropriate material to engage with. I spent a lot of time on YouTube looking for images of Syria that would help me make sense of what I was missing. When I stumbled upon the film of a traditional wedding ritual shot in Busra in 1972, I felt that it presented a much larger history of Syria as well as an opportunity to reinterpret my relationship to this past, as it affected my present. These found images were edited with amateur footage of the war (also found on YouTube) and personal archival material—a sound excerpt taken from a 1986 home movie of my father recording a tape for a Mother’s Day gift and a recently recorded conversation with my father in which he was teaching me how to count in Arabic. The countdown echoed both the tripartite physical structure of the film and the time left before Syria’s disappearance. The mixing of the public and the private spheres and the intertwining of past, present and future tense mirrors the construction of a complex political identity deeply rooted in both the personal and the collective.

Originally from Montreal, _Emilie Serri_ is a visual artist and filmmaker. Her films are distributed by LightCone in Paris and have been shown in festivals and galleries internationally.
also at Deluge:

Down to Earth
Anna Vasof | 7:00 | Germany | 2014 | Cdn Premiere

It is no secret that shoes say a lot about the person wearing them. The shoe’s form, material and condition provide insight into social status, character and, last but not least, potential desires. In Down to Earth Vasof refers to this multifunctional significance while putting a very particular spin on the concept of “footwear,” fabricating highly distinctive mechanical devices for each of her shoe designs, some of which set entire stories in motion upon walking. A fork vainly fishes for olives, umbrellas pop open for protection, some shoes get caught in nets or hunt for mice, while others successfully flip pancakes or use a foot pedal to blow a trumpet and beat a marching drum.

Tribute to Busby
Eytan Ipek | 6:00 | Turkey | 2014 | Cdn Premiere

A kaleidoscopic homage to the great film choreographer and director.

A director of experimental and commercial films, Eytan Ipek was born in Turkey and graduated from New York University. He attended the Berlinale Talent Campus in 2006 and founded the production company Kamera in Istanbul in 2011, where he currently lives and works. His films have been screened internationally at festivals in Greece, Italy, Thailand, USA and notably at the Toronto and Edinburgh International Film Festivals.

Anna Vasof is an architect and media artist. She studied architecture at the University of Thessaly (2010) and is continuing her studies in Transmedia Art at the University of Applied Arts in Vienna. Since 2004 her award winning films have been screened in numerous international film festivals. Vasof is currently designing and building innovative mechanisms to be included in future projects.

James Lindsay
Lance Austin Olsen

hide in plain sight

Jan 29 - Feb 27, 2016
Thus we find ourselves saturated within that familiar gaze of the omniscient observer, occupying the position of the detached “spectator,” looking down at the partially located actors, the peculiar uniformity of their dwellings, the wanderings of our nonhuman denizens, the steady and assured movements of capital: the serene repetition of the everyday. Here, the composition of Hither Green affects a formal indifference of vantage-point in sympathy with the startling indifference of the repeated: the mutual standing of things as substitutable objects in the horizon, condemned to recur ad infinitum to the tones of Westminster and the comforting promise that everything is indeed “all clear, all clear.”

Brandon Poole is a Victoria-based artist whose practice hovers between material and image.

Opening Reception: Saturday, October 17 at 7pm

Media Salon

Sunday, October 18

Friday, October 24

Thursday, October 30

4pm at Deluge Contemporary Art

Media Salon is an open forum for information exchange, critical discourse and social interaction. Join visiting and local media artists for informal discussions and refreshments in a casual environment.
Invaded Reason

Karla Leyva | karlaleyva.tumblr.com
1:00 | Mexico | 2014 | Cdn Premiere

A small skittish dog set against a saturated floral background cycles through a world of responses to unknown offscreen stimuli. A bravura 60-second screen-test for the adaptation of fight or flight.

Kierkegaard said “learning to know anxiety is an adventure, which every man has to affront if he would not go to perdition, either by not having known anxiety or by sinking under it.” I believe this work started like that—as a necessity to confront something which afflicted me for several years. In essence, anxiety is a reaction from a stimulus that we perceive as dangerous or menacing, our amygdala sends signals to the hypothalamus and around 30 hormones are liberated—adrenaline amongst them—increasing heart rate, pulse and respiration. Our primitive being is awakened, activating the instinct to flight. Invaded Reason is concerned with this vicious cycle of tension, pressure, anticipation, isolation and a profound desire for escape.

Karla Leyva is a Mexican artist who works with photography and video, interested in the artificial and illusory qualities of both mediums. Her work is an exploration of the struggle between reality and fiction and how this tension affects the way we perceive ideas of acceptance, beauty, frustration and perfection. Leyva has participated in numerous international exhibitions including PhotoEspaña in Madrid, Atlanta Celebrates Photography, PhotoEspaña Trasatlántica in Tegucigalpa and IILA-FOTOGRAFIA in Rome. She is the recipient of various awards and production grants from the National Fund for Culture and the Arts in Mexico.

Fabric

Christoph Girardet | 9:30 | Netherlands | 2014 | Cdn Premiere

Fabric is an elegant experimental montage using as its source the remaining workprints from a lost commercial film about viscose. Within a constructed modernist setting, the original attempt of the film to visualize perfect images of a young tailor and models dressed in this sensual modern fabric is reimagined and reanimated through the vestiges of outtakes and cinematic selvage.

Christoph Girardet works primarily with found footage, mostly from the 1950s and 60s. It serves as source material for his visual research, in the course of which he initially disassembles and deconstructs scenes, before reassembling them in a way such that the actual structures and internal mechanisms of their content are rendered visible. Born in Germany, he studied at the Braunschweig School of Art. Since 1989 he has produced videos and installations, some in collaboration with video artist Volker Schreiner and filmmaker Matthias Müller. Girardet’s work has been exhibited in group and solo shows at Stedelijk Van Abbemuseum, Eindhoven; P.S.1, New York; Hirshhorn Museum, Washington; Kunstverein Hannover; Sean Kelly Gallery, New York; Kunsthalle Bielefeld; and festivals worldwide. He lives and works in Hannover.
We gratefully acknowledge the financial assistance of the Canada Council for the Arts, the Government of Canada, the Province of British Columbia and the CRD Arts Development Service through the participating municipalities of Esquimalt, Highlands, Metchosin, Oak Bay, Saanich, Sidney, Victoria and View Royal.
WE ❤️ MOVIES
we really do...

CINECEN TA.COM
STUDENT UNION BUILDING, UVIC
Open Monday to Saturday 11am – 9pm. The Mint for lunch also offers office catering services. Phone 250-590-4490 to arrange your delivery. 24 hour notice preferred.

MINT LUNCH MENU

Butter Chicken Curry Box 12.25
Lamb Curry Box 13.75
Vegetable Curry Box 10.25
Curry Wraps 7.75 - 9.50
Curry Bowls 7.50 - 9.25

SANDWICHES 8
House-roasted Turkey Breast
House-roasted Ham
Roasted Pork loin
Back Bacon Lettuce Tomato BBLT
Veggie

House Salad 6  Side Salad 3
House-made Soup 6  Add soup 3
Aloo Sandheko 4.50

House-made desserts
2% Jazz Coffee, house-made chai
Assorted premium cold beverages
Check fresh board for daily specials
Ask about our frozen take home meals

Open Monday to Saturday 11am – 9pm. The Mint for lunch also offers office catering services. Phone 250-590-4490 to arrange your delivery. 24 hour notice preferred.

Now open until 9pm! Family dinners to go

Bring in your Antimatter ticket stubs and receive 15% off regular priced food

the mint downstairs specials
Sunday- Shaft Shooters 6
Monday- Momo 5.75, Mint Drinks 4.45
Tuesday- Naan Pizza 6, Pints 5
Wednesday- Martinis 6, Prawns 7.5, Platters 11
Thursday- Thunder Spaghetti 7.75, Pints 5
Open 7 days a week, 5 pm to 2 am happy hour

Every day from 5-7pm
Mojitos 3
Appys 6
Pints 5

1414 Douglas Street      themintvictoria.com      @TheMintVictoria